

Dear Year Six,

Hope you are all keeping safe and well.

Another week of home learning has gone by and I hope you are all doing ok and finding things to keep you busy. This week we will be sending out another home learning sheet with suggestions of activities to keep you entertained and your brains ticking over. Remember these are sent just to help you fill your days whilst at home. Pick and choose the parts you enjoy or want to do as a way of challenging yourselves.

Last week I ventured into school and spent a lovely morning, with the children of key workers, finding stones and pebbles which we then painted with beautiful patterns. The children have been challenged with hiding them around and about Holmfirth whilst they are out taking their daily exercise. We also took advantage of the glorious spring weather by spending a lot of time playing in Mission and the nurse's playground.

Mr Warrener and I were lucky enough to speak to a few of you last week – which was lovely to do and we really enjoyed catching up with you. We miss you all, school is very strange without you all.

So strange in fact, that Mr Rose and Mr Warrener have created a crazy golf course along the corridor from their office to the library. The teachers have been very impressed with Mr Rose's skills as he managed to putt a whole in one – we even have video evidence. It's amazing what some teachers get up during their lunch breaks!

At home I have been filling my days by trying to encourage my boys into partaking in some home learning rather than playing Lego batman – not an easy task! Teddy did make a video about penguins and Joe has been learning about sharks. We also made a family tree and Joe interviewed his older cousin Henry as part of his project about our family. The boys also got to speak to their class teachers which I know they both enjoyed.

Mr Warrener has been busy mending his bike so he can take his daily exercise by whizzing round the lanes of Holmfirth, by the end of lockdown he'll be so fit he'll be able to take part in the Tour de Yorkshire. I'm hoping that I'll have made so many cakes and loafs of bread I'll be ready for bake off!!

Well, that's all for now, keep safe and happy.

Mrs Tobin and Mr Warrener
